The type of information we collect:

We routinely collect and retain the information we obtain from your account applications, transaction history (for deposit accounts, loans, etc.) and from consumer credit reports. This information helps us:

(Example: When you open an account that pays interest, we are required by the Internal Revenue Service to obtain your social security number.)
- Better understand you so that we may provide you with additional or improved products and services.

We do not share our current or previous customers' nonpublic personal information with affiliates or with nonaffiliated third parties except as permitted or required by law.

From time to time we may share personally identifiable information with other financial institutions with whom we have a joint marketing arrangement in order to offer products (such as Accidental Death and Dismemberment Insurance) which we believe will be beneficial to you. The financial institution must agree to strictly safeguard the confidentiality of customer information and they are not allowed to otherwise use or disclose this information to anyone else.

Access to your nonpublic personal information is restricted to only those employees who need to know that information in order to provide products or services to you.
